PROJECTED FLOOD CONSTRUCTION — This is a layout of the proposed flood control project on the Brodheads-McMichaels and Sambo Creeks between the twin-boroughs of Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg. The sketch shows confluence of Sambo (upper center) with the Brodhead Creek; and also of McMichaels (lower right). The solid black areas are the proposed locations for dike constructions.

Initial Flood Protective Measures Get Underway

THE INITIAL phase of flood protective measures in the Stroudsburgs are underway.

The first segment got rolling as official groundbreaking ceremonies took place yesterday afternoon along the Brodheads Creek in the vicinity of Gold and Oakland Sts., East Stroudsburg.

The program marked the beginning of the $1,473,593 construction of the Brodheads-McMichaels Flood Control project in the Stroudsburg-East Stroudsburg area. This is the largest local flood protection project ever undertaken by the Commonwealth.

The festivities, which were held along the open banks of the Brodheads Creek, brought together scores of state, county and local officials. Many county and local civic organizations and business firm representatives were on hand to view the proceedings.

Local Benefactors
"The local people are the greatest benefactors," Dr. Maurice K. Goddard, secretary of Pennsylvania Forests and Waters said as the main speaker. "People who border on this construction project, should cooperate on this project," the secretary said, "because we are surely are going to get more hurricanes, more tornadoes, more floods."

Goddard represented Gov. David L. Lawrence at the brief ceremonies. Along with the state officials were two other top officials of the department. They were Clifford H. McConnell, chief of flood control and Bernard D. Murphy, chief forests and waters engineer.

Charles R. Bensinger, Stroudsburg attorney and president of Water Resources Association of the Delaware River Basin introduced the only speaker. Bensinger opened the program along the east bank of the Brodheads Creek by saying "this is the culmination of efforts, money, time and talents."

He continued, "this is a temporary (groundbreaking) rehabilitation of protective measures as a result of a tremendous catastrophe. This is the beginning of a permanent cure," he went on to say, "so that what happened in August, 1955 won't happen again."

Bensinger acknowledged the many organizations and peoples that took active parts in the bringing of the flood control project to this sorely needed area. The attorney then singled out some of the many who participated in making this groundbreaking ceremony possible.

"These people showed continuity, in face of constant pressure. This pressure made it difficult to operate, (work towards such a flood project). But they have succeeded. They have brought this complicated project to the end we have here today."

Will Construct
The Elmhurst Contracting Co., of Corona, N.Y., will construct the multi-million dollar project. The New York firm submitted the lowest bid of the 13 received on the construction by the department. The company will begin work immediately.

Secretary Goddard, speaking over public address system provided by Radio Station WVPO, officially opened his address by saying, "I believe Mr. Bensinger knows why we are here and so do you people."

"We are here because of the danger of floods from our streams. I think we are here primarily because of the terrible disaster of August 1955 flood. Although I would like to repeat that we had floods before, and I am sure, we'll have many floods in the years to come. But the purpose of this project is to prevent such occurrences here."

Goddard said Pennsylvania ranks second only to California in carrying out the most vigorous flood control projects. He also stated that "Pennsylvania suffers the greatest per capita danger of any of the other 50 states." He elaborated on the location of Pennsylvania and how the weather patterns affect this state (the weather routes head eastward from the West Coast) and how the Great Lakes play such an important facet in our weather.

But most important, he said "the two boroughs will have 100 percent flood protection from the McMichaels and Brodheads Creek."

He reiterated that "the project is designed to take care of floods of greater magnitude than the one caused by Hurricane Diane in 1955."

He added that the state may try for reimbursement from the Federal government. He claims that the state may be reimbursed by the Federal Army Corps of Engineers for the cost of the project, since it is being constructed "within the Corps requirements." "There's no reason why we shouldn't qualify for reimbursement," Goddard continued.

Mayor George Smith, whose home community of Easton was also hit hard by the 1955 flood, was present to view the activities.

Burgess Jesse R. S. Flory and Edward Doran headed the dignitaries from East Stroudsburg and Stroudsburg respectively.

Council presidents Harold Wiggins, East Stroudsburg and Edward Lawson, Stroudsburg along with borough managers Sterling Cramer and Harold Snyder were also in attendance.

Other Personalities
Among the many other personalities who viewed the opening program were Eugene McNamara, district forester; Hal Harris, one-time Stroudsburg mayor; Councilmen Bob Staples and Roy Lloyd, of East Stroudsburg; Ed Hess, local engineer; chief; Horace Heller, The Daily Record; Pearly Hunt, East Stroudsburg borough manager; Les Voss, secretary of Eagles; Jack Dougherty, Pennsylvania Bureau of Employment Security; Travis Seese, chief of E. Stroudsburg police; Montgomery Crowe, president Pocono Mt. Industries, Inc.; Judge Fred W. Davis; Glen Sanborn of Citizens' Committee; George Robinson, Stroudsburg borough solicitor; William Altier, president Pocono Mt. Vacation Bureau; Alex Bensinger, Stroudsburg attorney; Roy Mikel, president Chamber of Commerce; Budd Van Horn, Bell Telephone Co.; Ted Henning, Metropolitan Edison Co.; Paul McBride, Pennsylvania Power and Light; Rep. Van D. Yetter; William Quick, County Commissioner; William Z. Scott, state senator; Ed Lawson and J. Flood works on Brodheads Creek will extend from the Little League baseball field in East Stroudsburg to the new highway bypass under construction also. Dredging will continue downstream another 2,100 feet.

The McMichaels Creek project will start at the Fifth St. bridge in Stroudsburg and extend downstream to its confluence with Brodheads Creek. Construction calls for 9,600 feet of channel dredging and widening of both streams; 7,200 feet of earth levees on the left bank and 4,500 feet on the right bank of Brodheads Creek; and 1,500 feet of levees and concrete wall on the left bank of McMichaels Creek.

Blasting Makes Trouble

BLASTING on the construction of the Stroudsburg Thruway in South Stroudsburg broke a water main in the back yard of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Bachman, 49 Broad St., Stroudsburg, yesterday at 3:50 p.m.

Damage to the house, as a result of the blast, was a crack in the foundation and a joist supporting the sun porch was cracked and set at an angle. Also a toilet fixture on the first floor was knocked from its foundation and caused water damage.

The time of the blast was definitely noted at 3:50 p.m. as two clocks, in different rooms of the house, stopped at that time.

Dishes in the corner cupboard were knocked over, and at the time of observation, none were broken.

Pictures on the second floor were knocked to the floor and other pictures on the first floor were hanging at different angles.

Books were thrown, from book cases, to the floor.

As Mrs. Bachman was telling of the event her husband, Floyd, said, "Outside of all this we have had a quiet day here."

Mrs. Bachman was downtown Stroudsburg at the time of the blast and when she heard it she said to herself, "I hope everything is OK at home."

Her husband was home at the time of the blast and related "I didn't want to stay in the house when the blast went off so I walked outside. After the noise I looked at the backyard and saw the water squirting from the broken main almost 12 feet into the air."

"If the water main is broken," he said to himself, "I better check the inside of the house." It was then he found the toilet fixture broken and called the plumbers and water company.

Mrs. Bachman said, "I have some other valuable dishes stored upstairs and as soon as I can get things cleaned-up here I'll go up and see if any of them were damaged."

Adding, "I sure hope not as some of those dishes can not be replaced."

FOUNTAIN ON BROAD STREET — was created in the back yard of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Bachman's home, next to the construction of the new Stroudsburg Thruway, when blasting broke a water main yesterday at 3:50 p.m. (Staff Photo by Shafer)

Stroudsburg Flood Aid Listed

THE Stroudsburg Local Flood Protection Project is located on Brodheads and McMichaels Creeks, boroughs of Stroudsburg, East Stroudsburg, and Stroud Township. The drainage area of Brodheads Creek above the mouth of McMichaels Creek is 146 square miles and the drainage area of McMichaels Creek at the mouth is 107 square miles.

Floods have occurred at fairly frequent intervals on Brodheads and McMichaels Creek in Stroudsburg. However, the August 1955 flood was the most damaging flood of record. The damages in Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg resulting from the August 1955 flood were estimated in excess of nine million dollars.

The stream discharge for the August 1955 flood on Brodheads Creek below McMichaels Creek was approximately 68,800 c.f.s. and was adopted for the design discharge. The design discharge for Brodheads Creek above McMichaels Creek was selected as 48,500 c.f.s. and the design discharge on McMichaels Creek at the mouth was selected as 27,600 c.f.s. These figures are substantial in accordance with the recommendations of the Philadelphia District Corps of Engineers. In the preliminary study the possibility of utilizing upstream detention reservoirs was considered. However, the cost of a combination of such reservoirs and limited rectification for exceeded the costs of local flood protection and local flood protection project was determined to be the most economical method of providing the required protection. The main features of the project are as follows:

- 1 — Construction of approximately 9,600 feet of improved channel.
- 2 — Construction of approximately 7,000 feet of earth levees on the left bank and 4,400 feet of levees on the right bank.
- 3 — Construction of approximately 370 feet of concrete wall below the new Route 209 bridge over Brodheads Creek.
- 4 — Construction of approximately 2,400 linear feet of earth levees on the right bank of Sambo Creek in the Borough of East Stroudsburg near the existing park.
- 5 — Construction of a new single span prestressed concrete bridge at Day Street over Sambo Creek in East Stroudsburg.
- 6 — Construction of a ponding area on the right bank approximately 1,500 feet above Route 209 bridge over Brodheads Creek.
- 7 — Installation of drainage structures in order to control local drainage at various locations along the levee.
- 8 — Placing of rock riprap on the berm and levee slopes where required to minimize erosion.
- 9 — Installation of required storm sewers to provide for interior drainage control.

- 1 — Construction of approximately 1,500 feet of earth levees above the mouth of McMichaels Creek on the left bank.
- 2 — Construction of approximately 150 feet of concrete wall immediately below the 5th St. bridge in Stroudsburg.
- 3 — Construction of a ponding area and 700 feet interior levees in the vicinity of the sewage treatment plant to provide for ponding of interior drainage.
- 4 — Installation of a small sewage pumping station to discharge the effluent from the existing sewage treatment plant during high stages on McMichaels Creek.
- 5 — Storm sewer relocations necessary to provide for interior drainage.
- 6 — Placement of rock riprap on earth levees in order to reduce erosion.

Accident On The Hill

AN ACCIDENT resulted yesterday afternoon when two motorists — both traveling down a one-way street — made left-hand turns simultaneously.

The accident happened at Fourth and Main Sts., Stroudsburg.

Willie A. Schmitt, age 27 of Minisink Hills was in the left lane of the one-way traffic and Joseph Penquas, 54, of Selzer, Pa., was driving in the right-hand lane. The two both attempted to turn left on Fourth St., when the incident occurred.

Schmitt, who was driving an Opel station wagon, found his vehicle damaged to the extent of about $150. Damage was to the right fender and bumper.

Penquas was driving a 1956 sedan. The car's damage was estimated at $150 also.

Mutinuous Troops Wild In Congo

BRAZZAVILLE, Former French Congo (AP) — Mutinous Negro troops ran wild for hours Friday through Leopoldville, capital of the nine-day-old Congo Republic, sending whites streaming from the city in fear of assault and rape.

The U.S. Embassy was invaded and widespread violence was reported elsewhere.

A detachment of 164 crack Belgian infantry volunteers in combat dress and armed with automatic weapons left Brussels by plane during the night for the Congo. The Brussels announcement of the departure did not say where they would land. Belgian rule in the Congo ended with King Baudouin's handover of power to the republic last week.

Forty-two women and children, refugees from the chaos gripping the former Belgian Congo, arrived in Luanda, Angola, where many told of narrow escapes from threatened rape and injury. One woman said she saw two Europeans killed in the streets of Nkizi in the new republic. Another said beatings of Europeans had been common in the past two days.

The Belgian radio said Leopoldville itself appeared deadly quiet Friday night after a 6 p.m. curfew was imposed. It said shops had been closed, food was scarce and all Congolese servants had left European homes.

Several thousand whites, mostly women and children, fled Leopoldville. The men in their families sent them by ferry to this old Free French headquarters city across the river from Leopoldville.

Halted
The flight across the river was halted for several hours by bayonet-carrying troops but later was resumed. One ferry was forced to unload and passengers were forced to carry their baggage back home.

Refugees from Thysville and smaller communities in the Leopoldville province poured into Leopoldville through Thursday night and before dawn Friday Congolese troops burst on the scene in jeeps and trucks.

Troops stopped Europeans throughout the white area of the city and demanded to see identity papers. Foreigners living in hotels were ordered to stay in their rooms.

The U.S. Embassy in Leopoldville had a plan prepared in case it was deemed necessary to leave.

Mexicans' Support Will Aid Castro

HAVANA (AP)—The support of a Mexican congressional leader is expected to give Prime Minister Fidel Castro fresh confidence for what followers call his "David and Goliath" battle with the United States. It also is expected to reaffirm his conviction that he speaks for all of Latin America.

There is belief here that this feeling will be reflected in Castro's scheduled public appearances Friday night and Sunday.

One Latin diplomat said the assertion of Emilio Sanchez Piedras, chairman of the Permanent Commission of the Mexican Congress, that Mexico is backing the Cuban people against the United States, "will again convince Castro that when he speaks he is speaking for all Latin Americans—a leadership goal he has long sought. It will restore his confidence, even if he doesn't need it."

Castro, in recent public statements, has sought to speak for all Latin Americans rather than only for the Cuban people and some say that tendency is expected to emerge with added emphasis following Sanchez Piedras' statement.

Sanchez Piedras told cheering Mexican congressmen "it appears that our northern neighbor (the United States) is closing the doors of its friendship and understanding in the face of the yearnings of the Cuban people to live in liberty and economic independence."

"We, the representatives of the people of Mexico, repeat to the Cuban people our same attitude of solidarity," he continued, "and we wish to tell them that we are certain that their right to live in social justice and economic liberty will have to prevail in this continent in the hope of peace and reciprocal friendship."

The congressional leader said he was speaking for the Party of Revolutionary Institutions (PRI), which has an overwhelming majority in Congress.

The Cuban news agency, Prensa Latina, bombarded Havana newspapers with messages of support for Castro from many parts of South and Central America.

In response to a question, Lawrence said "I'm not deciding which way the Pennsylvania delegation will vote." He conceded he might have some influence on certain members of the delegation but described it as a very independent group.

Good Morning!
It's much easier to be critical than correct.

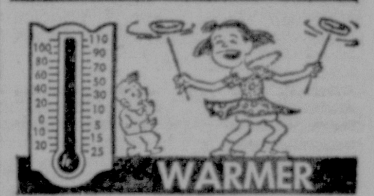

Boy Hurt On Visit

CHARLES HALL, 13, of 320 Main St., Stroudsburg, visiting with Mr. and Mrs. James Storm, Newtown, was struck by a car yesterday afternoon as he was riding a bicycle.

Hall was removed to the Lower Bucks County Hospital, Bristol, where he was operated on for a compound fracture of the left leg. A report from the hospital last night was that the leg had been repaired and put in a cast and it is expected that he will be discharged today or Sunday.

Operator of the car was given as Mr. Hibbs, of Yardley, Pa.

GEMS OF THOUGHT HAPPINESS

Happiness consists in being and in doing good.

—Mary Baker Eddy

Before we set our hearts too much upon anything, see how happy those are who already possess it.

—La Rochefoucauld

The best way to secure future happiness is to be as happy as is rightfully possible today.

—Charles W. Eliot

Happiness quite unshared can scarcely be called happiness. It has no taste.

—Mrs. Gaskell

Happiness is a perishable fruit, which must be used each day, for it will not keep.

—E. L. Benedict

What is it about fishing that appeals to so many men? Is it the tang of the out-of-doors, the salt spray, the play of the reel — or is it a part of that age-old challenge of pitting oneself against the forces of nature?

Probably, it is mostly the challenge, for man is forever excited by a dare. Yet, while life is full of challenges, all of them are not fun. When it comes to meeting the greater tests successfully, you need a lot more than a fishing pole. Then it is that Faith comes into its own; then it is that the teachings of the Church are put into practise.

Don't walk by your church next Sunday — walk into it. Equip yourself for your own spiritual future now.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Proper Question Is Wise To Pose In Regard To Japan

(The following was received as a letter by Eugene J. Brown, executive vice president of the News-Times, from his brother, Cecil, who is chief of the Far East bureau of the National Broadcasting Co. Mr. Brown took part recently in the hour-long NBC-TV network show presenting the situation in Tokyo after the rioting there).

By CECIL B. BROWN

To really understand what happened in Japan, it is wise to pose the proper question: Why are we so surprised when Japanese behave like Japanese?

That is what is so astounding about the fiasco of the Eisenhower visit. If there is one government which need not be led astray by Gelsa girls, Kabuki, flower arrangement and deep bows from the waist it is surely the government which has a naval base at Pearl Harbor.

But illusions die hard for Americans and history is quickly forgotten. Even now, it is probable that few Americans will care to connect Dec. 7, 1941, when bombs shattered one illusion, and June 16, 1960, when the Japanese government cancelled President Eisenhower's visit to the Land of the Rising Sun.

The connection, though, is inescapable, or it should be, unless we prefer illusion to reality, as we so often do prefer. To say that we have won a victory in that the U.S.-Japan Security Treaty is now in effect, despite the mob demonstrations, is to pretend that history is today and there is no tomorrow to be lived or written.

The heavy enamel gloss that Washington is putting on what has happened in Japan and what is now happening is nothing less than frightening. The United States is now in deep trouble in Japan, and it will become deeper and more ominous. The United States bases in Japan rest on shaky ground since so does democracy in Japan.

The government here will continue to be headed by the Liberal-Democratic Party; it will be pro-west. The forces that still control power in Japan know that this country's prosperity is hinged to the United States. That, more than ideological reasons, safeguards the U.S. position in Japan. To put it another way, the absence of prosperity could send Japan rocketing in another direction. But even without a recession, the present U.S. position here is almost certain to deteriorate.

The riots and demonstrations against Prime Minister Kishi, against the U.S. Japan Security Treaty, and against the Eisenhower visit, peeled back the thin veneer over democracy in Japan and the ten U.S. air and naval bases. What was revealed underneath that veneer is what the United States is going to have to contend with for a long time to come.

1.—Japan is suffering from a shortage, a severe shortage, of able politicians and leaders. It would be nothing less than kind charity to describe most of them as third rate.

2.—The opposition Socialist Party has exposed itself as being against parliamentary government. The Socialists command about 15 million votes, hold one third of the seats in the Diet. Its leader, Inejiro Asanuma, says: "The United States is the common enemy of Japan and China," meaning Red China.

3.—The Socialists are controlled by the strongly pro-communist General Council of Trade Unions, known as Sohyo, biggest in Japan with three and a half million members.

4.—The most violent of groups, the Federation of Students Self-government Associations, Zengakuren, has over 300,000 members. It is divided into two factions, main stream, which is Trotskyite, dedicated to chaos, opposed to Khrushchev and U.S. policy, considers the Japan Communist Party "yellow," and the antimain stream, attached to the Japan Communist Party, controlled and financed by Soviet Russia. A widespread high school organization prepares its members for membership in Zengakuren.

5.—The university faculties as well as student bodies are shot through with left wing forces. So are the high school teaching staffs. They encouraged the demonstrations.

6.—But that isn't all the U.S. will have to contend with here. Almost all Japanese newspapers are left wing, and against the U.S. Japan Security Treaty.

It is missing the entire point to draw consolation from the fact that the demonstrators probably numbered less than 500,000 in a nation of over 92 million. The essential point is that a small minority, a tiny fraction of the population, could dictate political affairs in Japan. That fact will become increasingly evident and also more detrimental.

With the newspaper instruction the Japanese people are getting (and they are avid newspaper readers in this nation of about 99 per cent literacy) and under the educational instruction of left wing teachers, the Japanese state of mind ten years hence is not hard to imagine, unless pretty effective forces interpose to divert the current and obvious trend.

The really grave danger in Japan is public unawareness. Most Japanese are indifferent to what is happening to their democracy, because they are neither attached to democracy nor elevated to an understanding of it. Democracy is something imposed on them by occupation authorities, when Japan was suffering from the impossible-to-exaggerate shock of the first defeat in its history, and it is something that has brought Japan the greatest prosperity in its history.

But it is not a personal cause or a personal faith. It is a convenience that means a washing machine or a television set, or could mean that, or might even produce an automobile for family use. That's why I mentioned before, the absence of prosperity could mean an extremely rapid decay of what democratic concepts Japan now has.

As it is now, there are few groups which act in positive terms, either by word or deed, in favor of democracy, or the Security treaty, or against the pro-communist forces.

It is convenient and factually correct to say that the mobs were directed by communists by the Sohyo labor union, and instigated by the left wing newspapers. But that is only part of the truth.

The other part is that neutralism and anti-militarism are strong in Japan, woven in the fabric of people's post-war minds.

Since all Japanese want security and few want to assume the responsibility for it, the Security Treaty, although now on the book, is not popular. And its implementation will be fought, by the anti-American forces I've mentioned, and by the forces of communism, anarchy and chaos now emerging from Japanese high schools and universities.

So the factors that kept President Eisenhower away from Japan are also signposts of the future.

The question remains, how to penetrate the Japanese mind to awaken the Japanese what destiny has in store for them by pursuing a path of neutralism or attachment to the west.

The newspapers will remain hypnotized with their self-righteousness and destructive approach to government; Socialists, Sohyo and Zengakuren will become more obstructive and violent. If there is one way to penetrate the Japanese mind at this stage it is by economic means. Trade restrictions are a two-edged sword, and certainly in this case, since Japan is the

2,771 X-Rays Taken In County

A TOTAL of 2,771 mobile X-rays have been taken thus far in Monroe County, Mrs. Bruce L. Fleming, executive secretary of Tuberculosis and Health Society reported yesterday.

The total was reached when 149 persons were X-rayed at Pocono Manor yesterday morning and another group of 146 were photographed in the afternoon at Mt. Pocono Firehouse, Mt. Pocono.

The mobile unit is conducting its services for all types of food handlers in the Pocono Mts. area.

Mrs. Fleming said that all 2,771 X-rayed will receive notice regarding their individual results. If no card is received, the person so X-rayed should contact the Monroe County Tuberculosis and Health Society at 621 Sarah St., or phone them at HA 1-1591. The cards will state whether the prints are negative or whether a re-appointment is necessary. In such a case, another X-ray will be taken.

Services Held For D. D. Davis

FUNERAL services for David F. Davis, of 725 S. Main St., Taylor, Pa., were held at 2 p.m. yesterday. The services were held from William R. Thomas Funeral Home, Stroudsburg. Davis was 72 years old. Rev. John A. Bollier officiated. Interment was in the Stroudsburg Cemetery.

Pallbearers were: Elsworth W. Davis, Wendell Davis, Melville Davis and Peter Wyckoff.

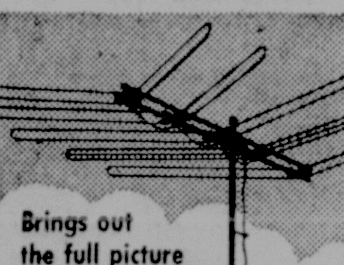

second best customer of the United States. But most effective argument to hold Japan to the West is not found in orations about democracy and denunciations of communism. It is contained in a simple question: What conduct is best for your pocketbook?

The workers who hit the streets to demonstrate against the Eisenhower visit can only understand what they did and what their leaders have in mind for them to do in the future, if they discover that they demonstrated themselves out of a job. The Zengakuren students, devoted both to violence and securing a good job when they graduate, might be awakened to reality if they discover that jobs depend upon profitable trade with the free world. It is a dangerous gamble, this economic gambit, to reverse an anti-U.S. policy trend in Japan, and not many Americans will really like the therapy. Without doubt, it will not be applied. And since it will not, we will have to accept the consequences of more and more trouble for the U.S. position in Japan.

Stroudsburg Board of Health

Just Between Us—

—By Bobby Westbrook

Vienna—You can go too far in promoting international good will. Especially if it involves carting garbage all over Austria. There was a summit conference after our picnic the other day on what to do with the debris. The majority was in favor of burying it but Chris insisted that if by chance it should be unearthed, the Campbell bean cans and Heinz pickle jars were so unmistakably American that we would be adding to international tensions.

So we bundled it up neatly and stowed it away in the trunk of one of the cars. Today—two days of hot sun later—we hold another conference. It might be bad to have Austrians saying "Americans leave things looking like a pig pen" but it would be worse to have them pointing at us saying "Americans smell like pig pens."

We came up with an ultimatum. It was Chris' garbage and he had to dispose of it before he got settled in his lodgings or we'd pack it in his suit case. Under pressure, he got it out of the car and holding it at arm's length asked our landlord where we could put it. Herr Ryderyk was most obliging — took it carefully and started to put it in his refrigerator! "All Americans are crazy" must have been his conclusion as the rest of us started laughing so hard that our eyes streamed and we had to double up with glee.

Actually, traveling with a group of assorted ages you see many different facets. As adults we "do" churches and famous buildings. One which particularly delighted us today was Stephens Cathedral — soaring, soaring Gothic with a famous organ—which was being played with soaring notes.

Robin, who loves escalators, discovered a whole subterranean world by riding down one on Opera Platz. Under the whole square is the Rondo, a circular lunch room is surrounded by shops of all descriptions. Today, being the "Day of Blossoms" in the Vienna Festival there were pretty girls in costumes with baskets of flowers they presented to all visitors.

From there at the suggestion of our young adults who had been impressed by the movie of "The Third Man" we went to the Prater to ride on "the biggest Ferris wheel in the world." Well, maybe it isn't the biggest but you get in gondolas as big as railroad cars and slowly and majestically go around once. From the top you can see all of Vienna—the Vienna Woods and the Danube.

At dinner in a big informal restaurant we had box seats for a German wedding reception. I felt like taking notes on the bride's gown but you can pick one of Ency's descriptions and it will do. However, they sing the toast to the bride and bridegroom and afterward have some sort of elaborate ritual where the men all take hands and, with their eyes closed, lead the bridegroom on some sort of snake dance while the bride changes her clothes.

If we could keep our eyes open long enough I might include some sort of description of the night life of Vienna which the boys, Peter and Chris, volunteered to investigate on their own tonight, which reminds me that they should be getting in pretty soon and whom do you call in Vienna for missing persons and how—if the only German student is among the missing?

Samuel Hahns Of Bangor Observe Fiftieth Wedding Anniversary Today

Bangor—Mr. and Mrs. Samuel H. Hahn, of 60 Broadway, will observe their 50th wedding anniversary today. To mark the occasion, open house will be held at their home from 3 to 9 p.m., to which relatives and friends are invited.

The Hahns were wed on July 9, 1910, by Rev. James Beam at Bethany Evangelical Church, Pen Argyl.

Hahn is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Hahn, of Pen Argyl. His wife, the former Mabel N. Bittenbender, is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Bittenbender, who resided at Belfast, and later Nazareth.

They have two children: Ethel, wife of Douglas Jones, of Dallas, and Harrison, of Arlington, Va. There are two grandchildren, the Jones' having a son, Douglas, 17, and the Hahns, a daughter, Patricia, 18 months.

Hahn is a retired foundry worker. Of the numerous employees in the molding department at the local S. Flory Mfg. Co. plant when he started to work there in 1903 he knows of eight still living. They include Sam Bray, of Toledo, Ohio; Clarence Young, East Bangor; Walter Frutchey, East Bangor; Burton Frutchey, Bangor; William Allen, Tatamy; Mose Taylor, somewhere in Iowa, and Charlton (Chart) Morris, of Stroudsburg R.D.

Hahn subsequently worked as a molder at the Stroudsburg Engine Works and at the Pen Argyl Mfg. Co. plant. For six years prior to his retirement in 1957, he was employed by Bangor Mills, at Pen Argyl.

The Wyckoff Shopper

"the friendly store"
A.B. Wyckoff
STRODSBURG, PA.

With this final column before vacation, I can assure you two things: a rest from me for awhile, and the wonderful fun of finding for yourself all the interesting items that arrive almost daily in our Wyckoff store.

This morning I went down to the main floor to say my farewells to our president, and found him busily occupied near the beach accessories counter where two youthful strangers were looking over the swim caps. Not being a swim cap wearer myself, I hadn't noticed how adorable the styles are this year. Many of those rubber caps are so whimsical, I can well imagine the girls would adore them and find them both eye-catching and male-catching! Some are very pixieish, coming to a peak of "stems" etc., at the very top. Others are rather demure, with clusters of pretty flowers at one side. Still others remind me of a pineapple, with all manner of peaks rising everywhere in thick layers like the skin of this pretty tropical fruit.

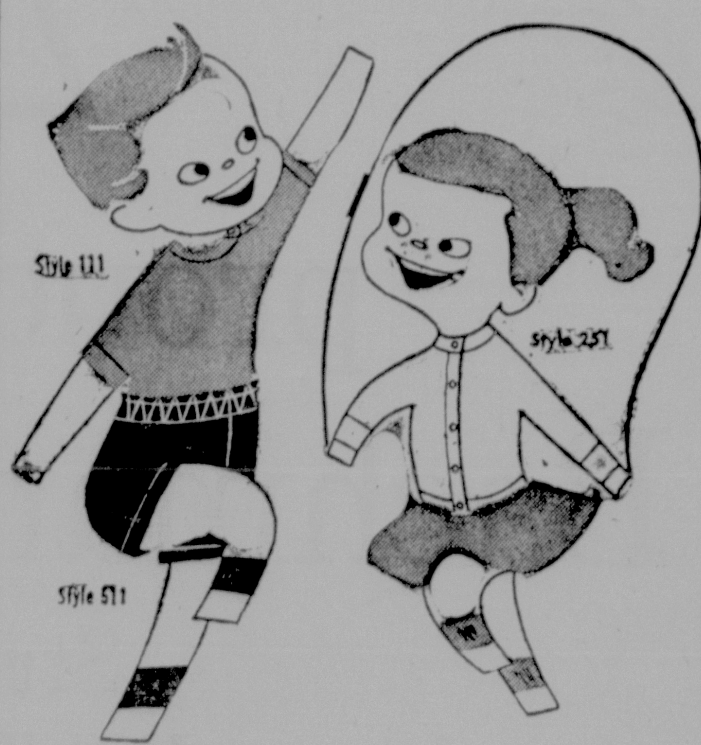

On the same table are all sorts of pretty beach bags too . . . which remind me that I learned a sad lesson just the other day which I should like to spare you. For weeks . . . yes, months . . . I have been yearning for a big basket from Yugoslavia priced at a mere 2.19 in Amy Eilenberger's notion department. It would be wonderful for traveling . . . deep, roomy, double-handled, sturdy, and interestingly woven at the top so it could be trimmed. So what happens? I kept thinking about buying . . . and never made up my mind until the very last one had been sold! Which moves me to remind you that since YOU are a person of good taste, don't ever assume that you are the only one who admires this or that. You can be almost sure that, if a piece of merchandise is desirable, the old maxim "he who hesitates is lost" is all too true. So, as the hotdog vender would say, "Get 'em while they're hot" . . . or tomorrow you'll wish you had!

There are two kinds of people who are always in the mood to tell everybody where to go. One is the perennial crank. The other is the Travel Agent . . . such as our own Edna Brockman. I wonder if all you travel-in' folk realize that the Wyckoff Travel Bureau is right here . . . easily accessible . . . to route you on your merry way, and do all your travel worrying for you? Also to insure you while traveling, and to supply you with inexpensive, but SAFE, travelers checks. I was reminded of this a few moments ago when Edna dropped by with my own checks. She's the best friend a vagabond could have!

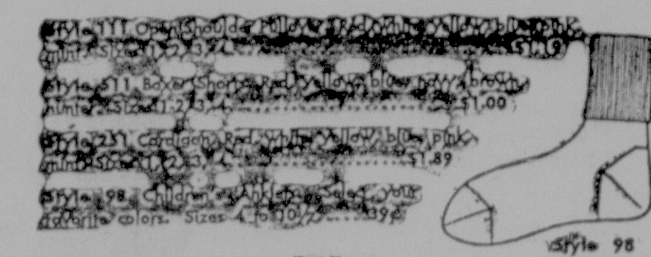

And now I'd like to tell you where to go, if I may! —to the American Legion home in East Stroudsburg on Wednesday evening, July 20th at 8 o'clock when Baron Reinhart will present a puppet show, "Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves" in benefit of the East Stroudsburg Little League. I had the pleasure of working with Baron, his charming wife, Bruce Phillips, and Mary Lou Weingartner in recording the voices and sound effects, and it was a delightful experience. I wouldn't dream of missing the show, and will be home in plenty of time for it. The cause is good . . . the show is fun . . . the puppets are terrific . . . so do be there!

Which reminds me that almost every day I receive requests to announce parties, or public events benefitting some cause, and am happy to comply whenever I dare do so. Some events may not be publicized, you know . . . so, when the column does not comply, there's a reason. Right now the Blairstown, N.J., Methodist church announces a "Second Hand Shop" in the building next to the bank, where all types of utensils, apparel, knick knacks and such are sold. Sounds like fun! . . . and please remember a contribution of candy or gum to the mentally ill to be left today or Monday, between 10 and 12, at the Mental Health rooms above the E. A. Bell Company, 616 Main Street.

Gregory Heads All-Star Game

JACK GREGORY, East Stroudsburg State College football coach, is spending the summer in Wilmington, Del., serving as coordinator of the Delaware High School All-Star Football game.

And Ben Jones, former Stroudsburg High School footballer and coach of Berwick High School, is in town for a short vacation.

The Pocono Professional Golfer's Assn. has grown to 23 members in its first two weeks of operation.

The group's initial pro-amateur event at Shawnee Inn Thursday was so successful that the group has scheduled weekly events throughout the rest of the summer.

Next week the tournament will be at Water Gap Country Club, with Glen Brook and Glen Oaks, Clarks Summit, to host the events the following two weeks.

Chimienti, Kinder Have Rough Starts

John Chimienti, Shawnee teaching pro, who tied Tony Longo, for the low pro prize with a 70, had a tough time getting started. He was three over par after five holes. But he birdied six of the next 13 holes to finish two-under par.

Sam Kinder, Glen Brook, also had a hard time getting it going. He four-putted the ninth green for a double bogey, to turn the front side in 40.

But Kinder started moving on the backside, getting three straight birds and rinning putts on the next two holes. He finished with a three-under par 33.

Longo, from Glen Oaks, was the runner-up in the Professional Golfer's Assn. National Senior Championship last winter at Dunedin, Fla.

Benefit Game At East Stroudsburg

The Salvation Army Summer Camp benefit baseball game will be held in East Stroudsburg Memorial Stadium.

The two-night doubleheader will send Twin City TV, State Major Champions against Volpi Builders of Philadelphia, Eastern United States champs.

All proceeds from The Daily Record sponsored event will be turned over to the Salvation Army.

Mrs. Haynes Leads York Win

Mrs. Jess Haynes of Glen Brook C. C. was one of the top winners when the Glen Brook women and Shawnee Inn women played a two-day tournament with the York Women's Golf Assn. at York recently.

Mrs. Haynes, guided her foursome to a 16-under-par score in the four-ball handicap event.

And husband Jess had a big day Thursday. He eagled the ninth hole, a 540-yard, five par, by knocking his three-wood second shot 18 inches from the cup and rolling in the short putt for a three.

And that night Jess cleaned out golf pros Sam Kinder, Walt Thiel, your Postscripter and Al Dally of Pen Argyl in miniature bowling.

Betsy Peeney Well Off Pace After Two Rounds In Ohio

Special To Daily Record

WARREN, Ohio, July 8 — Freckled Betsy Peeney of East Stroudsburg, had another shaky round today in the second heat of the Youngstown Kitchen's Open Golf Tourney, but bettered her opening score.

She added a 90 today to her first day's 83 for a 183 total, 37 over par at the 36-hole mark.

Her round today showed no birds and only four pars. She bogied 11 holes and had double bogies on three, as her short game and putter failed her.

Miss Peeney winds up her effort, with the rest of the amateurs, in Saturday's 18-hole round—leaving the course open to the professionals in Sunday's play.

The solemn-faced 36-year-old Wall, last off the tee in a day that saw scores balloon due to heavy winds, was 1-under-par until he hit the par-3 16th. Then he streaked home with a birdie 2, eagle 3 and birdie 4 for a 5-under-par 32 on the back nine. He made the turn at even-par 35.

Balding, who blistered St. George's course with an 8-under-par 64 in Wednesday's opening round and then slipped to a second-round 70 Thursday was out in even-par but his game fell apart on the way home.

Takes Six
The roof really fell in on him on the easy par-3 183-yard 16th, where he took a six. His tee shot landed on the grass on the edge of a trap to the right of the hole, he drubbed two blasts and got down in two putts from 7 feet out.

Dear Abby

Reason Enough

Dear Abby: I have a pen pal in Holland. We have been writing to each other for three years. I enjoyed learning about his way of life and his country and he enjoyed learning about mine.

I am engaged to a man who doesn't approve of my having this pen pal after we are married. He doesn't give any reason except that he just doesn't want me writing to another man.

I think his objections are silly because I have never met this pen pal and probably never will. Should I do as my future husband says and give up my pen pal or should I refuse?

PEN PAL

Dear Pen Pal: Whether your future husband is "silly" in his objections is beside the point.

Good marriages are made of little sacrifices for the sake of harmony. So give up this pen pal in Holland if it will get you in Dutch.

Dear Abby: For 17 years I have lived with this terrible secret. My mother died when I was born and I was carried around from relative to relative. Nobody wanted me. Nobody loved me. When I grew to womanhood I gave myself to many men. I mistook their desire for love.

Finally I met a good man who really loved me. I never told him about my past. He married me and gave me a good name. We had four children. Our first baby was born terribly deformed. I knew it was God's way of punishing me for my past sins. Should I confess to my wonderful husband, who treats me like a queen, that I know the reason for our crippled child?

TORMENTED WIFE

Dear Wife: God does not

"punish" mothers by sending them imperfect children. Saintly mothers frequently bear "deformed" babies, and many perfect babies are born to wicked mothers. Continue to live right, forget the past and direct your confessions to the Lord.

Dear Abby: People are always talking about the indecent bathing suits women wear. When are they going to say something about the bathing trunks the men are wearing? We have seen some of the most revolting sights at the beach this summer.

A brief, skin-tight bathing suit is just as disgusting on a man as it is on a woman.

TWO DISGUSTED TEEN-AGERS

Dear Teen-Agers: And to your very intelligent observation, I can only add, "Amen."

Confidential to Luke warm: You can buy a dishwasher, if that's all you want. Why marry one?

If you want a personal reply from Abby, write to her in care of this paper and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. She answers all letters.

Comprehensive Survey Of Wages For Office Workers

LOUIS F. BUCKLEY announced the start, July 11, of a comprehensive survey of wages, salaries and related benefits for plant and office workers covering all of Lackawanna County. Buckley is the Regional Director of the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics Middle Atlantic office.

This first survey of the Scranton area made by the federal agency since 1961, will provide up to date earnings information for about 70 occupations covering a wide variety of tasks and skills. Mr. Buckley estimated that the field work will be completed by August 19 and that preliminary results would be available shortly after Labor Day. Among the more important office jobs to be included are secretaries, stenographers, typists, machine billers, accounting clerks, and switchboard operators.

Negro Soldiers
End Revolt

LEOPOLDVILLE, Congo (AP) — Mutinous Negro soldiers Thursday ended a two-day army revolt marked by charges of white women they had been raped by mutineers.

A railroad official said women brought here on a special train from Kinsantu, between the capital and Thysville, told him they had been raped by Congolese soldiers who invaded their homes looking for weapons.

At one point in the uprising in this week-old African nation, white residents of Leopoldville patrolled the road leading from the mutineers' camp because of reports the disaffected army men were marching on the capital.

Girl Murdered;
Motive Sought

KOWALIGA, Ala. (AP)—Investigators dug deeper into the bizarre slaying of young Barbara King Thursday in an effort to establish a motive.

A law school graduate who lives near the lakeside summer cottage where the 9-year-old Birmingham girl was slain has been charged with first-degree murder.

John Wilbanks, 41, who turned to study of boat design after three times flunking his bar exam steadfastly denied that he fired the high-powered rifle which killed the child.

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER Presents SAMUEL GOLDWYN PRESENTS
MARK TWAIN'S
THE ADVENTURES OF HUCKLEBERRY FINN
in CinemaScope and METROCOLOR

"The King" (Tony Randall) and "The Duke" (Mickey Shaughnessy) catch up with Huckleberry Finn (Eddie Hodges) when they find him working as a cabin boy aboard a Mississippi River boat. The scene is from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn," film version, in CinemaScope and color, of Mark Twain's famous story. Also starred are Patty McCormack and Neville Brand, with "Jim," the runaway slave, played by Archie Moore, world's light heavyweight boxing champion in his acting debut.

THINKS!

It doesn't take a whole lot of thought, at that. He knows that summertime is the time to order coal. So, he orders NOW. Rather easy saving plan.
